Conflict Conversations: What is the Demand?

Co-op conflict can zap us of our energy, our time, and our financial resources, if it is not handled well. This session looks at three key components conflict conversations demand from us in order to settle into productive interactions.

Aboriginal Housing Management Association (AHMA)

Cultural Safety

When cultural safety is integrated, it creates an opportunity for better outcomes. In this session, AHMA will discuss how it has developed an approach to cultural safety that creates and supports practices integrated into every corner of co-op housing, including member selection and retention.
